SOLIDARITY

SOLIDARITY

The EU is based on an interplay between individual interests and solidarity. Sometimes you win by strengthening others.

In Solidarity, the players are representatives of a community of villages. It is going to be a hard winter, and food will be scarce in some of the villages.

You have the choice: Will you show solidarity or act in accordance with your own short-term interests?

INCLUDED

70 food cards

50 action cards

96 coins

REQUIRED

1 die

1 pair of scissors

EXPLANATION

How do you play the game?

At the beginning, each player receives 5 food cards. The food cards show how many points you have now. Shuffle the action cards well and place the pile face down next to the pile with the food cards.

2. 1. 3.
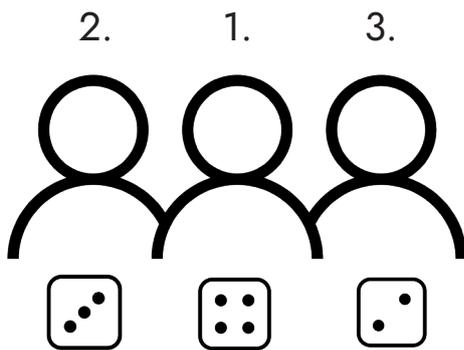

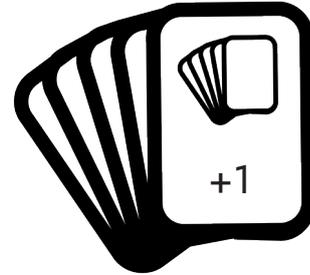

Roll the die to determine who starts. The player who rolls the highest number of dots begins and carries out the three game phases (see p. 4). You continue by playing one round at a time clockwise. Put the discarded food cards on a separate pile. After drawing an action card, return it to the bottom of the pile.

How the game ends

The game ends after all the food cards have been drawn from the pile. Count your food cards. Each card is worth 1 point. Next, count your coins and add the total to your food card points. Each coin is worth 2 points. The player with the most points wins the game.

GAMEPLAY

1. ACTION PHASE

In the action phase, you draw 1 action card. The action on the card always applies immediately.
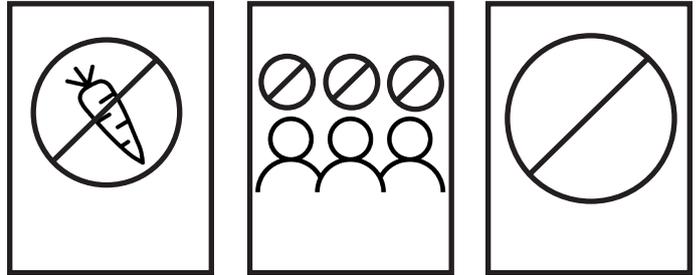

2. DIE PHASE

In the die phase, you decide how many food cards you want to win and then announce the number. However, your action's success depends on the number of points you roll. If you are not successful, you do not receive a card and lose your turn in the next round.
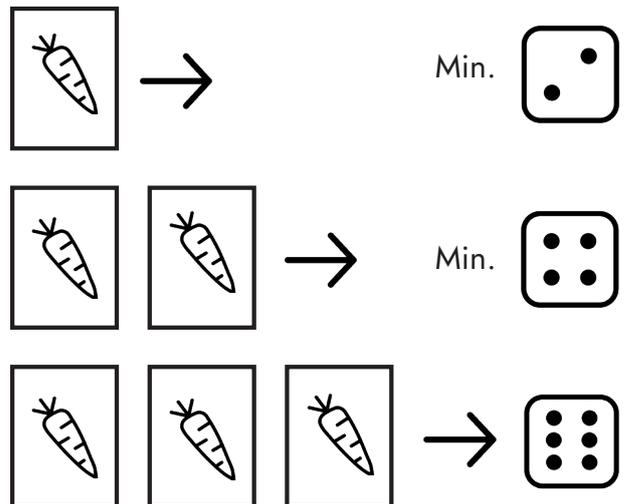

3. SOLIDARITY PHASE

In the solidarity phase, you decide whether or not you want to give a player food cards. You can give a maximum of 3 food cards to only one other player. For each card you give away, you receive 1 coin from the Village Central Bank.
